

Boulder Creek Falls

Boulder Creek Falls Trail is quite a strenuous hike as the trail follows alongside a dry boulder falls that is reasonably steep at times. The hike requires 1 - 1 ½ hours.

Starting at the front entrance of the dining hall, walk on the dirt road behind chalet towards and past the bathhouse. Continue on the road past Teachers Cabin over small creek, and then after passing Shrew Tipi, there is another bridge to cross larger stream. After crossing the bridge, immediately look left for the trail heading up the hill past Sai Condo.

Turn left onto this trail and hike past Sai Condo and Boundary Tent. Stay on the main path and do not veer right. The trail progressively gets steeper. After a small distance of hiking through the forest, the trail opens up with the large rock boulders visible to right of trail. From here the trail continues to ascend at a pretty steep gradient with the "Boulder Falls" along the right side of trail.

After getting to the top of the first large area of boulders there is a nice grove of large pine trees to rest in and enjoy the view. From here you can continue up the hill following the less prominent boulder falls, but the trail is not well marked and people usually turn back after a rest in the pine grove and follow the trail back down the mountain.
